

Reference for David Hutchins, Solicitor

David Hutchins held an intensive one-day course for translators in Stockholm in December 2010, focusing on contract law.

His pleasant, pedagogic and lively approach elicits a good response from students, making them feel confident about getting to grips with a complex body of material and enjoying the process of doing so.

Some comments from participants: “The course leader had a very good grasp of his topic”, “The lecturer was incredibly competent and professional. A tough seminar with an energetic lecturer but incredibly rewarding”. “I found it very interesting and learnt a lot about English law”.

Further training is very important for translators in today’s competitive market. We look forward to working with David again and are pleased to recommend his law courses.
